SUN BEAMS

by WALTER M. BARRETT

Conservation week in California is from March 7 to 14, tomorrow being the last day. In this connection District Ranger H. I. Snider is giving a series of talks at the local and Tahoe schools following his talk on "Our Forests and National Defense" over radio KFBK last night in Sacramento. We here in the very heart of one of the richest national forests should realize the importance of conservation. Against many destructive agencies we are powerless and as private citizens we can do little to prevent cutting of Christmas trees each fall, but on the other hand there are many things which we can do and must do if our great forest is to be preserved. Most important are care in handling fires, disposal of lighted cigarettes and keeping a sharp watch that other destructive forces which we can control are not permitted to add to those elements over which we have no power. Every week should be conservation week in our forest areas.

The prospects are that the Truckee, Tahoe and Donner area this summer will enjoy the best year in history. This expectation is based on the fact that thousands formerly unemployed or only working part time are now on steady jobs which permit two or three-day weekends and two weeks vacations. Vacation money, in general, will be spent more freely, it is believed, and as a result regions providing the best facilities for pleasure seekers will profit. It becomes our task—and not a small one—to see to it that our great vacationland visitors are given every consideration and advantage. Nature has done her share to make our region superior. and if man made facilities are adequate we can well expect a banner season.

One of the most necessary committees from the Truckee Chamber of Commerce is the clean-up committee which Fire Chief Tom Dolley volunteered to head. Last year the idea of beautifying the town started with an unorganized group representing all organizations in the community taking a part in the program. Valuable work was done and in many sections the town took on a dressed up appearance. However, considerable remains to be done and as soon as practical the crews are expected to organize to continue where they left off last fall.

As usual, when spring rolls around the town is invaded by our seasonal peddlers and solicitors seeking to interest the potential purchsers in placing an order (deposit required) for nearly anything mentionable. Fortunately many a hitherto unsuspecting purchaser has become wise to the ways of these glib-tongued salemen and can say "NO" with a definite ring. Others have yet to learn that in many cases they are not dealing with legitimate businessmen but with unscrupulous persons intent only upon an easy dollar. We cannot say this is the case with all vendors, but take our word for it, you can't use too much caution and in the long run you will find it more economical and sounder business practice to patronize your local dealers.

San Jose Driver Escapes After Car Plunges Off Of Road Near Floriston

Jose Jenson, San Jose, is recovering from injuries suffered last week when the car he was driving left the highway and after overturning six or seven times, landed against a power pole near the Truckee River at Floriston. Had it not been for the pole stopping the mad flight of the car, the driver would probably have drowned, according to A. C. Barrick, state patrolman, who investigated.

The man, alone in he car, summoned aid and went to a Reno hospital for medical attention.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

There were so many children who wished to continue the hot lunches at the Truckee Grammar School that have been prepared for the past eight weeks by Mrs. E. G. Harris that it has been decided to contiue the program another month. The cost to the parents is $1.00 for 20 school days per student. This money is used to buy the necesary foods such as meat and vegetables.

Chamber Will Revise Form For Election

Directors To Be Chosen By Ballot During Month

PROGRAM DISCUSSED

Street Project Report Is Given Attention At Meet

Increasing interest in the plans to revive the Truckee Chamber of Commerce was exemplified Tuesday evening when nearly a score of local businessmen gathered for the first March meeting and outlined tentative plans to reorganize the chamber, formulate a definite workable program of promotion and review current activities.

A motion was unanimously carried which will revamp the method of electing officers and permit everyone interested to have a voice in selection of the directors. This method was advanced as a solution to the former arrangement which permitted only those who attended the meeting to have a say in the election of officers.

Under the new plan, a board of seven directors will be named by the membership, each of whom will be mailed a ballot with the names of the nominees together with blank spaces for write-ins. These directors will be nominated from the floor at the next meeting on Tuesday, March 24, at 8 p.m. at the Bank of America office.

The seven candidates receiving the largest number of votes at the election to be held on the second Tuesday in April shall comprise the board of directors. From this board, board members will appoint their chairman and other officers necessary for the conduct of the regular meetings and the officers shall serve at the pleasure of the board.

No recommended action of the board will be final until approved by the entire chamber in regular meevings.

E. L. Loynd, chairman of the dues determination committee, reported his committee busy formulating this important item and a recommendation may be made in the near future.

Frank W. Gaiennie announced that with the valuable assistance of Carl Weeks and Jud Foster, he has completed the survey pertaining to the grading and surfacing of the main street between the present pavement and sidewalks. This project will cost approximately $2000, he said. This includes grading and surfacing the area approximately 25 feet wide and 900 feet long.

Gaiennie has agreed to continue work on the project with an aim of determining what aid may be anticipated from the county and state.

Other routine business occupied the balance of the meeting.

All Star Program Billed At Donner Theater for Week by V. C. Shattuck

With a bill that would do justice to a show house many times the size of the Donner, Manager V. C. Shattuck is still striving to give local films followers the most for their entertainment dollar.

Leading off the week, on Saturday night the Warner Brothers' production, stars lucious Ann Sheridan and George Brent in a clever comedy romance.

High Sierra, the film which plays Sunday at the Donner, brings with it all the thrills, suspense and dramatic action which movie audiences hope for in their screen fare. Humphrey Bogart is featured as the last of the Dillinger gang and Ida Lupino as his taxi dancr sweetheart.

Continuing the chronicle of American family life, Four Mothers, with the Lane Sisters and Claude Rains, bids well to surpass in popular appeal both Four Daughters and Four Wives. The story is based on Fannie Hurst's Sister Act and will play here Wednesday night.

CANADIAN VETERAN SPEAKS ON WAR AT ROTARY MEETING

With bombers flying well above the 22,000-foot range of the most powerful antiaircraft batteries, one of the safest places in England today is in the army, according to Skip Windnagle, former private in the 48th Highlanders, who recently returned to the United States after spending nearly a year with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in France and England. Windnagle spoke Monday evening before the Truckee-Tahoe Rotary Club at the Donner Hotel.

With the bombers flying so high it is virtually impossible for the pilots to determine where the bombs will land and too often they deal death and destruction far from military objectives, landing on hospitals, play grounds, churches, schools and homes Windnagle declared that his personal observation had led him to believe the French soldiers were the "toughest" to deal with in the present war. They feel, he said, that they have been "sold out" in high places and are determined they shall not submit. He expressed the belief that England will be more than satisfied with material aid from the United States, having more than ample men for the motorized armies engaged in the conflict.

The speaker was disabled in a bomb raid and this made further service impossible and he returned to this country after receiving his discharge on September 21, 1940. Following his talk, members had a number of questions answered concerning rumors of activities in the war zones.

Guests at the meeting which was presided over by Theodore Schlueter were Bill Vail, Robert Leamon, Del Bussert and Walter Barrett.

BESIO PLACES HIGH IN STATE MEET AT YOSEMITE SKI HILL

Competing in a field of 60 entries in the state championship class B downhill and slalom races at Yosemite over the weekend, Angelo Besio, skiing for the Truckee Outing Club, placed fourth in the combined event by winning fifth in the downhill and seventh in the slalom.

George "Bud" Zorich was 14th in the downhill but was disqualified in the finals. Robert Bowers placed 20th in the downhill, 18th in the slalom to take 17th in the combined.

Tony Besio was 29th in the downhill but hurt his ankle in the first run of the slalom and was disqualified.

Edmunds Named on Fair Board by Governor To Replace Grass Valleyite

Gov. Culbert L. Olson this week announced the appointment of Cecil Edmunds of Truckee to succeed Henry Spiess of Grass Valley as a director of the 17th district (Nevada county) agricultural association, upon the expiration of the latter's term. Edmunds had formerly served on the board under Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

Olson also reappointed Thomas Mullahy of Grass Valley and named Harry F. Sofge of Nevada City to replace T. K. Rolph, who failed to qualify.

Noami Rebekahs Take in Three New Members At Regular Meeting

Naomi Rebekah Lodge No. 2 of Truckee accepted three new members at the regular meeting on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Claire Ellert and Mrs. Bertha Gates, both of Truckee, were initiated and Mrs. Jennie Moore of Big Bend transferred from an eastern lodge of the order.

Six members of Queen Esther Rebekah Lodge No. 9 of Sparks attended the session.

Refreshments were served by the committee.

Thirty members have enlisted to comprise the first aid class at Lake Tahoe and will be given instructions each Tuesday night by F. W. Gaiennie and W. H. Laity of Truckee. The first meeting was held last Tuesday at Tahoe Community Center.

Suicide Note In Bottle Is Believed Hoax

Investigation Fails To Reveal Traces Of "Body"

"Goodby Cruel World! You will find my body near the Mistic bridge." This gruesome note, signed A. F. Wilson, was turned over to Deputy Sheriff N. F. Dolley Sunday and led to a hurried investigation which failed to lead local officers to the supposed victim of a suicide.

The note, evidently written by an illiterate person, was found in a gallon jug caught in an eddy of the Truckee River a quarter of a mile east of town. An unidentified itinerant reported finding the jug and seeing the paper inside, broke the container and brought the message to Dolley.

Although a close search of the territory described was made nothing was found to indicate the writer had carried out his threat.

M.L.U.H.S. Upper Class Get Career Books from Truckee Coca-Cola Man

Each member of the junior and senior class at the Meadow Lake Union high school has been presented with a booklet entitled "Your Career" reprints of articles originally published in "The Red Barrel", the house magazine for the Coca-Cola Company. The books were scanned by Principal G. E. Hofmann and met his highest praise. The presentations were made by W. M. Englehart, local Coca-Cola Bottling Co. owner.

Officers Seek Man On Charge of Kidnapping For Capitol City Police

Local officers are seeking a Sacramento man, accused of kidnapping, who abandoned a stolen car on Donner Summit sometime yesterday. Details of the kidnapping were not learned, but a Sacramento officer recognized the car which has been returned to the capitol city.

A description of the alleged kidnapper, who is reported armed, was received by local police.

Local Lodge Memebrs to Visit Westwood Unit on Occasion of Grand Visit

The "flying squad" of Summit Lodge No. 54, Knights of Pythias, made plans to attend a special meeting of the Westwood lodge on April 5 at the meeting of the local lodge last Friday night. The occasion will be featured by the presentation of an honor sword to the Westwood group for accepting the most new members in a year. The award will be made by Grand Chancellor Vernon Cash.

Fred Kohler and Frank Gaiennie were named at the local session as delegates to Grand Lodge in Long Beach early in May. Kohler was designated as the lodge's choice for grand deputy and William Bottcher and Oscar Schumacher were named as alternates.

With the resignation of Inner Guard Frank Giovannoni, Outer Guard Doug Barrett was advanced to his post and Irving Waters was selected as outer guard. Al Fontana, F. W. Gaiennie and O. T. Schumacher acted as grand installing officers for the new officers.

HORSE DIES

Because the driver failed to secure the coupling, a $1500 race horse and a $500 trailer were destroyed last week near Farad when the trailer dropped from the car and careened into the Truckee River. The name of the driver and owner of the horse was not immediately determined.

HIGHWAY 50

Highway crews clearing snow from Highway 50 are reported within one mile of Echo Summit working from the Tahoe side.

LIONS ENJOY DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAM AT TAHOE MEETING

Twenty-seven members and guests of the Truckee Lions Club last night enjoyed a diner meeting at Tahoe Inn where a talk on traffic problems by Officers A. C. Barrick and George Smith and two reels of motion pictures shown through the courtesy of the Associated Oil Company were features of the program.

Barrick told of many incidents of his work and answered many questions addressed him.

M. C. Immer, Associated Oil representative here, showed two motion pictures; one of the Santa Clara-San Francisco football game and one of the East-West classic.

Other guests included Weller Atherton, Nat Quilici, and Scott Henderson. W. M. Englehart, Jr., presided at the interesting session. The next meeting will be held at the Donner Hotel.

PARENTS, TEACHERS PUT IN NEW HEADS FOR YEAR TO COME

On Friday evening, March 7, the Truckee Union Parents and Teachers Association met to elect and install officers for the year 1941-42 at the grammar school. The installation services were conducted by the retiring parliamentarean, Mrs. Jennie Watkins. All of the new officers were present except the historian who was installed by proxy, Mrs. Ernest G. Harris, the retiring president, filling in for her.

The nominating committee served refreshments which were enjoyed by all at the close of the meeting.

The new officers are Mrs. G. J. E. Keetch, president; Mrs. Harold Hart, vice president; Mrs. G. Hocker, secretary; Mrs. H. O. Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Humbert Ciardella, historian and Mrs. C. Gates, parliamentarean.

The next meeting will be held on April 4

Sacramento Contractor Sues County for Charges On Local Vets Building

M. R. Peterson, Sacramento contractor, Monday filed suit for $3,568.05 against the county of Nevada in the superior court at Nevada City.

The claim arose out of alleged refusal of the board of supervisors to accept the builder's bill for additions and modifications to the original plans for the Veterans Memorial Building in Truckee. The plaintiff contends the amount of the suit is the amount spent by him after the plans were changed.

Wyethia Club Members Tour Fontana's Plant at Meeting on Thursday

A tour of Fontana's Laundry and Dry Cleaners plant served as an educational entertainment for members of the Wyethia Womens Club Thursday afternoon. The women were instructed in the modern, sanitary methods used by the local establishment and expressed their appreciation to the manager, A. P. Fontana, for the afternoon's enjoyment.

Mrs. Olla Tonini presided during the absence of the president, Mrs. Dorothy Garibaldi, who was unable to attend. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Frank Titus and Mrs. Grant Keetch.

The next meeting to be held in the evening will be March 20 at eight.

Nevada County Shares In F. H. A. Program in Northern Part of State

Nevada county is an active participant in the better housing program sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration, through which 1833 local families already have invested $1,754,770 in building, buying and modernizing homes.

A review of FHA operations to the first of the year reveal that mortgages amounting to $278,400 had been selected for appraisal on 81 homes in this county. In addition, 1757 loans totaling $1,476,370 had been insured unnder the property improvement credit plan for the modernization and repair of existing buildings.

Two Plans For Hobart Mills Being Studied

Conscientious Objectors may Be Stationed At Site

LETTER HAS DETAILS

Washington Officials Will Decide Issue Of Camp

Two possibilities for the developement of Hobart Mills as reservations for the use of the army are now being considered by government officials, according to a recent letter from Congressman Harry L. Englebright.

The first possibility is for the establishment of an army camp at the site of the former lumber town and the second is for housing conscientious objectors who decline non-combatant service with the army.

Truckee organizations including the chamber of commerce, Lions and Rotary Clubs, have been working to have the site given consideration and while nothing of a definite nature has been resultant, the following letter form Congressman to the president of the local chamber of commerce will show the progress being made:

"Since writing you concerning your interest in the establishment of an Army camp at Hobart Mills, California, permit me to advise you that I have had the matter under advisement with the War Department.

"In order that you may be fully informed as to what the War Department has to say, permit me to advise you that I have a communication from The Adjutant General of the Army, in which he states that this suggested location has been considered by the War Department and its availability has been made a matter of official record.

"In addition permit me to advise you that the data respecting Hobart Mills have been made available to the Director of Selective Service, who is interested in establishing facilities for those conscientious objectors who decline non-combatant service with the Army.

"I shall continue my best efforts in this matter and will keep you informed of any new developments.

"With kind personal regards, I remain, Sincerely yours,

Placerville Senator Urges Government Aid For U.S. Highway at Echo Summit

SACRAMENTO —(U.P.)— Further improvement on the transcontinental Lincoln Highway east of Echo Summit depends on allocation of Federal Forest Highway funds, State Senator H. E. Dillinger of Placerville said this week.

It is estimated that $335,000 will be required to complete the remaining section on the Placerville highway connecting with Meyers Station.

The road virtually bisects the El Dorado National Forest, one of the largest revenue producers of any national forest in California, and is important from a strategic standpoint, Dillinger said.

The El Dorado county solon said the proposed highway was the most practical route from the naval ammunition depot at Hawthorne, Nev., to the bay region.

"Federal funds for this purpose are programmed by the federal Public Roads Administration, the federal forest service and the state division of highways," Dillinger said. "It is urgently important that the project proceed without delay during the coming fiscal year."

Dillinger pointed out that the state budgeted $349,000 for the work on the Lincoln Highway west of the proposed link. Completion of the federal-state project, he added, would "remove another section of low standard road on an important interstate highway."

Washington Observations...

by J. E. JONES

WASHINGTON (D. C.)— Government officials are attempting to adjust labor disputes that effect national defense. There have been some serious disturbances in which there has been no attempt upon the part of the government to put the blame upon either the employers or the employes. Likely this is a good idea—if it works. But the condition is menacing, especially when it spreads to the steel industry and great plants having national defense contracts.

Congress is standdng aside and the OPM may take full responsibility. Westbrook Pegler told a committee of Congress the other day that the government "drives" workers into unions and "refuses to take any step to protect these unwilling members." He may have been a little strong in his statement but when priority orders are issued regarding tools and aluminum, workers should be able to regulate trouble-making leaders and keep the wheels of industry going around.

PRESIDENT vs. ENCYCLOPEDIA

Criticism of the press by President Roosevelt has gotten under the skin of the Washington newspaper men. Mr. Roosevelt has tried to make it celar at press conferences that he had no wish to impose censorship upon any news, but he told the correspondents that they had reported a matter that should not have been printed. The correspondents have been treating the topic very carefully. Arthur Krock of the New York Times remarks: "Recently reporters here were urged not to publish certain naval and industrial facts which are available to readers in the statistical shipping manual and the Encyclopedia Britannica."

AVIATION IN DEFENSE

The holocaust in Europe has proved that modern warfare can no longer be fought on the lines laid down by old guard tacticians. Aviation has forged to the front as the outstanding first line of attack. Aviation, in the opinion of the National Aeronautic Association, should become America's first line of defense.

To stimulate interest in aviation as an important part of national defense, a unique ground trainer which duplicates the manuevers of an actual plane in flight is being exhibited at various airports throughout the south. The trainer, sponsored by the National Aeronautic Association and loaned by the Sinclair Refining Company, gives any air-minded citizen his opportunity to try his wings.

The public has responded eagerly and thousands of people have taken the flying aptitude test in the trainer to acertain whether or not they would make good pilots. For those who show a marked natural aptitude and are interested in becoming pilots, the necessary information and advice is given.

In this way, thousands of people—particularly young men—are firest introduced to the possibilities of flying and are eager to assimilate knowledge which would be invaluable in any preparedness program for national defense.

BEATING 'ROUND THE BUSH

Last fall we had the Hatch "clean politics" law which regulated fund-raising devices for political causes. The Democrats and Republicans defeated the avowed purpose of the law by distributing their contributions among state and local organizations and clubs. Instead of having a Jackson Day Dinner this year the same affair was a "rose by another name." No one was obliged to pay a hundred dollars for a place at the dinner, but all the faithful were "invited guests" and told that they might (please) contribute $100, more or less. The American people don't care, even they know they are being bamboozled.

SMALL BUSINESS

The so-called Monopoly Committee which has been holding hearings for the past two years has found out a lot of things, but it hasn't done much about them. It is therefore rather refreshing to follow the statement of Senator O'Mahoney, chairman of the committee, who has showed that a very large part of the nation's savings have been concentrated in the control of life insurance companies with the result that "these reservoirs of saving are now to all practical purposes available to big business," says the Senator.

He likely is right but the fact remains that local banks are able, and nearly always willing to meet the needs of small business men who can qualify for loans to which they are legitimately entitled.

SHIFTED MANTLES

President Roosevelt has annexed a good many Republicans as advisors and confidants, and reduced the number of brain-trusters in his immediate vicinity.

GREAT LAKES ROUTE

The St. Lawrence seaway is still being lambasted by railroad corporations. That seaway would be a grand thing for the Great Lakes in opening the routes of transporation from the Atlantic Ocean. In fact it would be far more important than the Panama Canal.

INCREASES IN JOBS

Unemployment at the end of December was 7,906,000, and it will be 6,500,000 at the end of 1941, says a statement from the American Federation of Labor this week.

WHY DEMOCRACIES CRUMBLE

Government, under strict democracy, doesn't compete with its citizens in business and doesn't receive an income except through taxation. But democracy is flexible and its existence depends upon the will of the people. If the people wish to weaken democracy by permitting government to banish freedom of enterprise, they are entitled to do so.

The fact that democracy is so flexible enables any person in the land to advocate policies which, if adopted, curb the rights of citizens, thus causing the democratic way to become more and more remote. Strange as it may seem, the very people whose liberties and opportunities are thus destroyed, often support such policies. Because no man can definitely say just how far democracy can be submerged by government before it is in the clutches of socialism, the people accept restrictive measures, figuring that it is safe to do so as long as democracy remains in form, even though in reality it doesn't exist as it was originally intended.

When a people forget how democracy was born, and ignore the principles that keep it alive, it is hard to see what will stop the growth of a bureaucratic system which will destroy it. Democracy is non-existent when socialism gets the upper hand, and the individual's vote becomes more of a formality than a formidable weapon to reckon with.

LITTLE AND LIKING IT

In the very heart of Italy, the tiny Republic of San Marino, with its 38 square miles and its 15,000 souls, basks in the Apennines at peace with all the world.

Not quite all the world, though. San Marino is technically at war with Germany. That's because it overlooked the formality of making peace after the World War. But San Marino wnts the world to know that, though surrounding Italy is at war with Great Britain, San Marino isn't. It's army of 39 officers and 950 men is snug in San Marino, and not on the snow slopes of Greece r the sands of Egypt.

If you're going to be a small country in today's world, the moral seems, "be so small they don't even notice you."

ECONOMY COSTS MONEY

Yes, strange as it may seem, economy cost money when it causes you to cut down on your expenitures for things that are necessary for your comfort or welfare. And it is doubly expensive when it causes you to save on expenditures that, if wisely made, would return to you with a handsome profit added. Short-sighted saving has kept lots of people in the rut of toilsome grind and put many a business on the road to a bankrupt's court. Prudence must, of course, be exercised at all times in financial matters, but too much cfution in personal and business affairs is often worse than foolhardy squandering.

An advertisement in The Sierra Sun doesn't cost a great deal of money, but it will return big dividends in the way of increased business and multiplied profits. Do not be niggardly in the amount of money you set aside for advertising—you can't afford to be.

An advertisement in The Sierra Sun delivers your sales message to hundreds of prosepective buyers residing in this trading area, while your window displays are seen only by the few who pass your store windows.

The Sierra Sun goes into nearly every home and place of business in the Truckee-Tahoe region. It carries to its readers not only all the news of the vicinity, but the sales messages of its merchants and business men as well. If you have anything to sell, you cannot afford not to be represented in the pages of The Sierra Sun. Your economy would be too expesive—it woudn't be good business.

"It seems," says Herbie the Hermit, thesage of the Sierra, "rather to the point that we have two ears and only one mouth."

WINGS FOR AMERICA

by Don Wiley
MEMBER, AVIATION WRITERS ASS'N

War in Europe and the requirementsments of a nation thoroughly aroused to the need for a powerful air force have elevated California to undisputed leadership in aircraft production.

Exemplifying the spectacular growth of the industry in this state is the story of the Vega Airplane Company of Burbank.

One year ago Vega had 600 employes, 170,000 feet of floor space in an old truck factory, one experimental airplane and no backlog.

Today Vega has 4500 employes, a brand new factory of more than a million square feet, and a backlog of $75,000,000!

Looking toward the future, company officials contemplate a personnel within a year of 21,650 workers employed in a streamlined plant designed to produce upwards of 2,000 airplanes yearly.

And looking still farther into the future, they visualize mass production of safe, economical, high performance family airplanes a few years after the end of the European war.

The company has a $30,000,000 contract with the British for production of a twin-engine medium bomber known as the Vega 37, a military version of the famous Lockheed Lodestar transport. It will also build a primary-secondary trainer known as the Vega 35. And it has the Unitwin Starliner, the original Vega ship, which is still in the experimental stage.

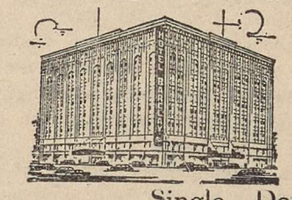

Like its parent company, Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, and like the other California airplane builders—Vultee, Consolidated, North American, Northrop, and Douglas—Vega Airplane Company is a vital cog in the nation's defense.

The present generation cannot remember back to the horse and buggy days when a salad consisted of a plate of sliced tomatoes, a bowl of cucumbers in vinegar, pickled beets, cole slaw and wilted lettuce.

Yet some of the oldsters have never gotten beyond that stage. They have failed to progress with the times. A salad is an integral part of the meal to me, and it will be to you when the habit forms itself. So try some of the following:

A LENTEN SALAD OF SALMON

This is a main dish salad and should not be used as a meal accompaniment:

Two thirds cup of salad dressing, 1 cup of canned salmon, two-thirds cup of cooked peas, ½ cup of diced celery, 2 hard cooked eggs diced, 1 teaspoon of finely minced parsley, 1 tablespoon of minced sweet pickles, ¼ teaspoon of paprika, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice.

Mix half of the dressing with the rest of tfhe ingredients. Chill. Serve in a bowl which has been lined with crisp lettuce. Top with the remaining salad dressing.

SALAD DRESSING

This is a good egg yolk user upper. Eight egg yolks, two-thirds cup of California-grown beet sugar, 4 tablespoons of flour, two-thirds teaspoon of salt, ⅓ teaspoon of dry mustard, ⅓ teaspoon of celery seed, one-third teaspoon of paprika, ½ cup of vinegar, two-thirds cup of boiling water, 2 tablespoons of butter. Add seasonings with yolks. Beat well. Add the vinegar and the water. Cook slowly and stir constantly until the dressing thickens and becomes very creamy. Beat one minute and add the butter and beat until blended. Pour into a jar and cool.

STUFFED CELERY SALAD

Clean I bunch of celery and fill the stalks with a soft, nippy cheese, seasoned with salt, pepper, paprika and finely grated onion. Press the stalks together in the shape of the original bunch and tie to hold firm, and chill. Cut in ¼ inch slices and serve 2 or 3 for each salad. Top with the following dressing:

CUCUMBER DRESSING

Add 1 cup of diced and drained cucumbers and ½ cup of cream whipped to 1¼ cups of mayonnaise.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

Two cups of creamy cottage cheese, ½ cup of sliced radishes, ⅓cup of diced green onions, 2 tablespoons of diced pimiento or green pepper, 2 tablespoons of chopped sweet or dill pickles, ¼ cup of French dressing, salt and pepper to taste.

Mix well all the ingredients. Cover and chill and serve on fresh, crisp watercress.

Experiment vs. Experience

by REV. WILL H. HOUGHTON, D. D.
(President of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago)

Many of an older generation will remember the famous lecture, "Acres of Diamonds", which Dr. Conwell delivered thuusands of times. His thesis was that men miss the opportunities for success at their own doors, while they wander the world over, or wish themselves in distant places. Dr. Conwell multiplied true incidnets of men who journeyed to the ends of the earth in search of fortune, only to find it buried in the very ground on which they had rolled their marbles.

Ours is particularly an age of novelities. We like search better than research, and we prefer the new to the true. Experiment rather than experience counts high with us. To say that a thing has been tried and proved is equivalent in the minds of many to saying it is musty and mildewed. We have experiments in morals, in philosophy, in economics. We observe entire nations deliberately cutting loose from the moorings of the centuries, and in muntiny against the captain named Experience. They are giving allegiance to a new commander named Experiment. Now while men are in the mood for trying things, may it not be the best time to remind them they had better try something new which is yetold—the Bible, the eternal Word of God.

In the light of the demands and failures of the present day, the reading of Psalms 78 would be profitable. It demonstrates the permanence of the Bible's message. In this historical psalm we see God's ancient people placing all their problems on an economic basis. "Can God supply a table in the wilderness?" was one of their troubled questions. God replied, "I'll supply all younr temporal needs, but you have greater needs." How strange, and yet how true, to human nature in every age, to read in conjunction, "He brought streams out of the rocks....and they sinned yet more against him." Again, "And he rained manna and flesh upon them....For all they sinned still and believed not his wondrous works." The more they got the more they wanted, and the less thankful they were for what they got. They blamed conditions, but God blamed them, and over and over we read, "Yet they rebelled against the most High God."

Perhaps someone reading this message thinks he is facing problems to which the answer cannot possibly be found. Why not go back to the Bible? Others have faced the same problems and have been saved by this wondrous Word of God. Why not peruse its pages, accept its promises and the life-giving Christ is reveals? "Let's go back to the Bible."

The Sugar Bowl

The most immportatn topic of the week is naturally the long-awaited visit of five Latin gentlemen skiers from below the Equator, their manager (a most charming fellow, one wife (a gorgeous blond) and John Jay, Jr., who acted as the official United States representative with the party.

The entire group was billeted in three of the ten attractive Sugar Bowl homes, were given cocktail parties, were wined and dined at the Lodge and seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves. The race, held for the team on Wednesday, consisted of a fast but heavily controlled downhill starting on the Eagle course and ending up at the base of Market Street. It was thrilling to watch and exciting to run. Hannes Schroll and Martin Fopp tied for first place hotly pursued by the captain of the visiting team, Canuto El Magnifico, who was only one second slower. We were all sorry to see the boys leave and it is hoped that in the not too distant future some of us will have an opportunity to visit their ski terrain in the Chilean Andes.

The resident ski test judge in the Sugar Bowl was seen trudging thru the spring snow on Saturday up to Chairlift Tower Six, with the sweat pouring down an already scarlet face. Reason: Mrs. Burnett Turner and the fourth class test. The joke of it is he sat on the test committee at the CSA convention last fall and was one of those advocating that a climb be accomplished before a candidate becomes eligible for the fourth class badge. We are all wondering how much longer the hike wiwll remain in the test after what happened Saturday.

Charlie, the lodge porter who does not ski but who is known by most skiers, was standing out on the porch the other day gaping at a gaggle of geese honking their way north. Wh somebody leaned out of the bar and advised Charlie to shut his mouth... we'll cntinue with the story in the next issuse.

At last Coca-Colas may be bought on the lift line, which, like Pinnochio's nose, grows longer and longer. So successful was the sale of this beverage on Saturday that ten cases were sold within the twinkling of an eye.

They're coming, hoards of them, from all parts of the Sierra to watch the fourteen-foot snowshoers compete in the Sugar Bowl for a $100 purse put up by the members of the SBSC. It is really going to be a sight and will tie in perfectly with the 49er party which leaves San Francisco Friday night on a wild train equipped with an old time saloon, huge brass cuspidors and the rest of it.

Timothy Jones has just been elected a member of the Sugar Bowl Ski Club and his master has even paid his annual dues for this season. Tim is a wow on the hill and handles the breakable crust with greater ease than his partner, A. A. Jones, president of the club.

LAKE TAHOE SCHOOL NOTES

TAHOE CITY—Tahoe schools will observe conservation week by hearing a talk on forest conservation by H. I. Snider, Truckee district ranger, and a discussion of wildlife conservation by William LaMarr of the fish and game patrol, which will be accompanied by a display of stuffed game birds.

Tahoe branch of Placer Union high school will be host to many other schools at the California and Nevada interscholstic ski federation meet at Tahoe on Saturday, March 15.

Peg E. Stuart returned from a trip to Oklahoma with her parents last week and is registered in the elementary classes. Sally Cross also entered again last week as did Jackson Palmer. In the high school Joyce Palmer and Charles Cross, Jr., have returned from vacations.

Rodney Yeakel is now president of the student body at the high school, having stepped up from the vice presidency when Stewart Pyle, the former president, moved to Auburn.

Ideal Weather for Meet At Tahoe Hill Is Enjoyed by Skiers and Spectators

TAHOE CITY— Ideal weather conditions prevailed here on Sunday when the amateur ski meet of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club was held on the Tahoe Hill with crowds from Tahoe, Reno, Sacramento, Hollywood and other localities participatig in the events.

The Giant Slalom was won by Carl Bechdolt, Jr., with time for the two runs as 1::11 and 1:09; Bill Bechdolt, second, 1:15 and 1:21; Dick Carnell, third, 1:41 and 1:39 and Bud Mandeville fourth in 1:34 and 1:47.

The novice slalom was won by Howard Carnell (9 years old) in 1 and :58; Robert Stark (13 years), second in 1:04 and :57; Tommy Adam (14 years), third, 1:15 and 1:15; Bob Adam fourth, Rodney Yeakel fifth and Charles Cross, Jr., sixth.

The novice jumping was won by Robert Schumacher with leaps of 18 and 16 feet. Howard Carnell, Robert Stark, Tommy Adam and Robert Adam placed in that order behind the winner.

The girl's slalom was won by Edna Wheat in 1:10, with Jean Wheat and Betty Wheat placing second and third. Betty Woodruff, Lake Tahoe Ski Club snow queen, broke a ski and did not finish the face.

Free instruction for beginners was furnished by veteran members of the organization. Moving pictures of a rescue by Harry Johanson, sectional chief of the National Ski Patrol, and his two Eskimo huskies with the first aid toboggan, were filmed by Miss Dorothy Zacharias of Sacramento with Peter Vanni as the supposedly injured skier.

FOUR-FOOTED BEER TRUCK

HERE is a Buenaventura version of beer truck and a mighty popular institution it is. Natives here spend most of their time loading and unloading coffee bags—for this port is the chief spout through which fine Colombian coffee streams northward. Toting coffee bags isn't the easiest work in the world and the weather is always warm—hence the natives are good customers for these four-footed trucks.

Soft drinks, also, go big on the southern continent In queer little roadside stands you'll find pop of every color and flavor, remindful of our old-time circus varieties. You'll also meet the two well-known "colas"—to say nothing of strange blends which the natives have concocted by mixing together several of our most flowery flavored pops. In fact several ambitious young men from the United States have opened bottling works in various southern republics and are making a neat living from them.

Cantinas, as pubs are called in South America, are favorite meeting places of the natives and offer excellent opportunities for studying types. In Buenaventura, visited fortnightly by cruise ships from New York, tourists can view the goings-on in the cantinas without even entering them, for doors and windows everywhere in the native quarter are left wide open.

TAHOE SCHOOL HAS CHRISTMAS PROGRAM ON SATURDAY NIGHT

TAHOE CITY— A most novel entertainment was held at Tahoe Lake Elementary School on Saturday night when the students presented their Christmas program, orignally scheduled for December 20, the exercises had to be postponed on account of illness of many of the participants. Their lovely balsam fir Christmas tree (given to them by J. White) was still green after remaining in the auditorium through the cold winter months and Santa kept his date, too, appearing in red and white Christmas array by courtesy of Billy Calendar. Otto Fox, director of music at Auburn and Tahoe schools, conducted the orchestra.

The program included the following features:

Music by the orchestra, Beneath the Holly, Silent Night, O Faithful Pine, with choral accompaniment.

A play, The Christmas Mixup, with Georgia Wallace, Robert Adam, Peg E. Stuart, Paul White and Shirley Moore.

Chorus, Merry Christmas and Good King Wenceslaus.

A Christmas exercise with Bette Wheat, Dennis Moore, and Bob Stark.

Chorus, A Merry Round and Christmas Chimes.

A recitation, Mrs. Santa Claus, by Sally Cross.

A recitation, Twas the Night Before Christmas by Billy Callendar.

A recitation, Welcome, by Luciile Haugen.

An exercise, Christmas Stockings, with Roger Hursey, Howard Carnell and Kenneth Crandall.

Student body song, Away in the Manger.

Recitation, Pussy and Dolly and I, by Elaine Edwards.

Exercise, Lest We Forget, by Anne Marie Hull, Linda Cramer and Lucille Haugen.

Recitation, A Different Way, by Anne Marie Hull.

Song, Winter Wonderland, by Linda Cramer and Peg E. Stuart.

Recitation, Goodbye to the Toy Shop, by Linda Cramer.

Play, Topsy Turvy Toy Shop.

Closing piece, Donald Orsi.

A large crowd greeted the presentation and the conventional candy sacks were served to the children who were made very happy by being able to have their Christmas tree after all.

A PACT BACKFIRES

A misunderstanding between those fair weather friends, Germany and Russia, has once more set the kettle boiling in the Balkans where German and Slavic interests have ever clashed. That Hitler dared send his army marching into Rumania and Bulgaria would indicate his half-concealed contempt for the Kremlin. Russia's hand in the Balkan chess game has been greatly weakened by Nazi military successes of the past year. In signing the historic pact with Adolf Hitler in August 1939, Stalin doubtless expected he would come to hold the whip hand over Germany by controlling the amount of vital war materials to be supplied her. But Germany's dependence on Russia has steadily grown less. Each additional Nazi conquest has made available to the Reich additional industrial plants, raw materials, man power and sources of food supply in the defeated countries. Correspondingly, Nazi need of Russian aid and good will has sharply declined—so much so that today finds the German army entrenched in the very heart of a traditionally Russian sphere of influence.

SLOW DEATH

The world was last week witness to the fact that nations can not only be crushed by sudden defeat, they can die slowly, like a victim of asphyxiation. Such is the curious predicament of Italy, under the misleadership of a man so ill-informed that in one case he sent his forces to defeat against a country far weaker in military strength that his own, and in another, so miscalculated the strength of his enemy in North Africa that he puushed his army into headlong disaster. But the strangest occurrence of the week has been daily praise heaped by Italy's press and officials upon Germany's sallies against British forces in Africa—without a word said about Italy's efforts. If Italy's people have eyes to read between the lines of accounts which lavish fulsome praise upon Italy's partner and suspiciously omit mention of what Italy is doing, they see one thing clearly: This is that their own leaders have lost heart in the cause, have become so weakened in morale that, far from even trying to excuse their country's plight, they slavishly hymn the glories of their partner-in-arms.

CONQUESTS AND BLOCKADES

The swift German conquest of most Europe, and England's blockade of that continent, have cost the United States a cool $200 million in normal export sales in 1940, reports Dept. of Commerce. Compared with 25 per cent in 1939, only a meager 4 per cent of America's exports went to continental Europe last year. Meanwhile, quickly expanding trade with South America has begun to take up the slack as far as industry is concerned. With agriculture, however, it remains a far different story, for South America is a major producer on that score. Blockades and conquests abroad, and lack of big markets in his own hemisphere outside the 48 states, is forcing the American producer more and more to look homeward. But to recapture the outlets destroyed by war and maintain his living standards, the farmer will need the full cooperation of government and private enterprise. With strong and dependable allies in the retailing systems, in government efforts to cut down middlemen's unjustly high fees, there is good reason to believe great new markets can well be plowed open at home. In the long run, even foreign blockades and conquests may help, rather than hinder, America's efforts to find those uptapped markets which will lift the living standards of all.

POOR AMERICANISM

Benevolent democracy showed itself tolerant to a fault one night recently when, at a meeting sponsored by the America First Committee in New York, a large crowd wildly jeered and hissed every mention of the names of President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie. Any policies espoused by the president or Mr. Willkie demand allegiance of no one but they do merit respectful attention, as the men themselves do. Insolent disrespect toward the head of the United States government and the distinguished contender for that office may put America last, but it will never make "America first".

BILLIONS SPENT

Not the billions for defense authorized or appropriated by Congress, but the dollars actually put to work tell the story of rearmament progress. Announcement by the Treasury that February's defense spending reached $592 million—$133 million more than December, $415 million more than last July—show the nation at last is beginning to noticeably lengthen its strides.

Covering the Legislature

by ALLEN G. THURMAN
(Assemblyman for the Sixth District)

Your state legislature again got under way last week following the constitutional recess and while there may be differences of opinion on such matters as taxation and the budget, the legislators do appear to agree that this session will not be the long drawn out affair that the last regular session was. The 1939 session lasted 131 days plus special sessions in 1940 totaling 40 days. This session, however, the legislators are starting out like they intended to speed up somewhat and eliminate unnecessary delays. Already several bills have been passed in both houses while some measures have been killed in committee. If the committees function as they should and only pass out measures which have merit, the work of the two houses will be speeded up considerably.

One measure which was killed in committee last week was AB 953 by Assemblyman Robertson. This bill would have repealed a section of the Military and Vetetrans Code relating to an appropriation for war veterans dependents. The measure was ordered tabled by the author. Your assemblyman, as a member of the Soldiers and Sailors Committee, had received a number of letters protesting this measure and we are happy to report that it has been tabled and, as a result, no further action on the bill will be taken. All veterans organizations and auxiliaries opposed the measure.

A rather vicious bill that affects the mining industry was introduced in the closing hours of the January session. The bill, AB 2006 by Desmond and Cain, provides for the regulation and control as well as licensing of all mining operations on streams furnishing water for domestic use to cities and water districts.

You can rest assured that your representatives from the mining districts will oppose this bill most strenuously.

The writer has received numerous letters from sportsmen regarding a numbe of fire arms bills which have been introduced as so-called defense measures. We believe we can safely say that all such legislation will be opposed by the numerous sportsmen who are members of the legislature.

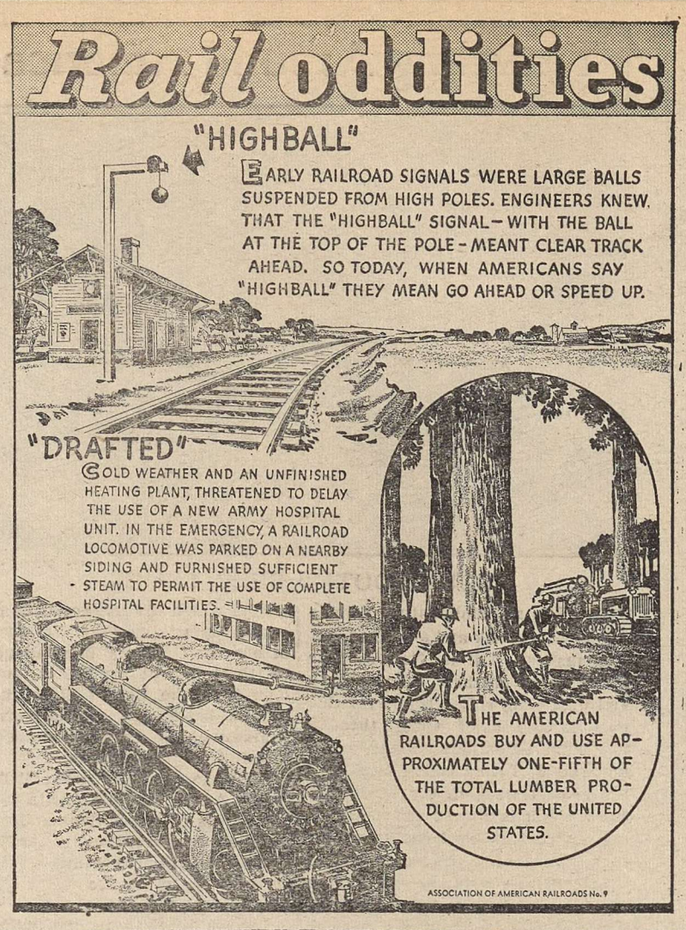

Your assemblyman has also received numerous letters from the people residing in the district relative to matters which they favor or oppose. We have endeavored to reply either by letter or card to all of these communications and wish to reiterate here that all such communications will be given our careful consideration.

The question of whether or not to reduce taxes is still being discussed and there is quite a difference of opinion among the legislators regarding the matter. But whether taxes are reduced at this session or not, the budget is certain to be reduced.

One thing which the people can depend upon as far as this legislature goes is that the legislators are going to do all in their power to curtail unnecessary spending in the operation of your state government.

My Place In The Sun

by DOUG BARRETT

I feel about as much like writing a coumn this week as a toad feels like remaining on a hot rock. Consequently, I'm moving it from its usual spot on the editorial page to strange pastures in hopes that casual readers will not notice it and that The Faithful Five will overlook any shortcomings beside the regular ones. My only excuse is that it's spring and writing a column is one the last things a young man's fancy lightly turns to in the spring.

Jim McIver's dog Pat is a genuine bird dog if what I saw early Sunday morning is any criterion. Pat is barely 12 months old—if that—and a perfect picture of a dog. Well ,I was coming in on the hoof from Gateway Park and there stood Pat, rigid as a bronze horse, pointing with all her might and main. I approached and she didn't rustle a hair and she was pointing—of all things—a most independent and nonchalant sparrow.

Speaking of dogs (as I seem to be) did you ever notice the paternal pride Andy 'Oroz' dog Nig takes in his favorite son, owned by Mrs. Melvin Thornton? It's the first time I ever saw the father of a pup take such an interest in his son.

While I'm on the subject, I see by the Tahoe news letter that Captain Hansen lost his dog to that lowest of low "meanest men in the mountains", a dog poisoner. It seems a crying a few more of those birds don't get a dose of their own medicine.

In my sundry strolls down the bully-vard this week I spotted our merchant princess sweeping the walk in front of her emporium....Annie Tonini with the ever-present yellow pencil in her hair....Joe Mattos delivering ice on a sub-freezing a.m.... the Gallerani brothers in town from Tahoe....one of our million men under arms....the sparrows house cleaning in their nests in the porch in front of the Masonic Hall....a concrete caucus among Walt Barrett, Bill Englehart, Bert Weeden, Jerry Zunino and Tom Dolley on the very timely and concrete topic of taxes....Dave Cabona organizing his hot stove forum in front of his furniture store atfer a month's lapse.

Young Ralph Shearer and I went up to the Donner Summit airways station Sunday to see my friend, Claude Herrold, whose in charge high on the windy hill. He took all over the plant and went into quite lengthy detail as to the workings of the station and then he showed us some of the stuff you had to keep track of. Writing a column isn't so tough after all is said and done.

Associated Oil Promotion Campaign to be Discussed At Capitol City Session

Sales and advertising plans of the Tide Water Associated Oil Company for 1941 will be revealed to sales agents, distributors and Associatied dealers at the annual spring sales meeting to be held at Sacramento on Monday, March 17, according to an announcement made today by Myron Immer, local Associated sales representative.

Day sessions will be devoted to consideration of sales promotion and merchandising plans which will be outlined by a grup of five home office executives from company headquarters in San Francisco.

at a dinner meeting Monday evening Harold R. Deal will review the advertising program for 1941. The plans call for the largest newspaper advertising campaign in the history of the company according to word received by Immer, who stated that the advertising will start earlier than in past years and will devote large space to Finer Flying "A" gasoline. The Sierra Sun and Truckee Republican will carry the entire series of Finer Flying "A" advertisments locally.

Immer will head the delegation to attend from this region.

S. P. Honors Trackwalker For Preventing Tragedy

Antonio Nencini, trackwalker for the Southern Pacific Company, is the proud possessor of a gold watch and chain today, presented by the railroad's management "for meritorius service in the line of duty."

The gift was accompanied by a personal letter from A. D. McDonald, president of the company, in appreciation of Necini's prompt frustration of an attempt t derail a train near Dutch Flat on February 8.

Nencini's handling of the emergency was pointed to as an "outstanding example of how railroad workers continue to make 'safety first' their paramount endeavor."

Nation's Sportsmen Pay High for Hunting Fees

SACRAMENTO —(UP)— Sportsmen paid $14,100,000 for state hunting licenses and federal duck stamps in 1939, the U. S. fish and wildlife service reported today.

Nearly $13,000,000 was spent for 7,600,000 licenses in the various states and the remainder was represented by sale of 1,111,561 duck stamps at $1 a piece. The figures include hunting licenses alone in 21 states and combination hunting-fishing or hunting-trapping licenses issued in the others.

The total number of licenses has increased since 1935 at the rate of half a million a year, the agency reported.

The leading state in sale of licenses was Michigan, with 711,733, followed in order by Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Indiana. California ranked eighth among the states with 270,095 licenses returning a total of $528,025. Of the total, all but 1729 were resident licenses. Federal duck stamps sold in the state totalled 74,644.

The federal duck stamps are required of all waterfowl hunters over 16 years, in addition to state licenses.

1929 Licenses Are Being Renewed by Department

Good until revoked licenses issued in 1929 are being renewed throughout California at the rate of 11,000 per week, the department of motor vehicles revealed this week.

Although these licenses have not yet been cancelled, Paul Mason, chief of the division of drivers' licenses, said large numbers of persons are heeding the admonition to shop early for new licenses and avoid the rush certain to follow the cancellation of the 1929 vintage.

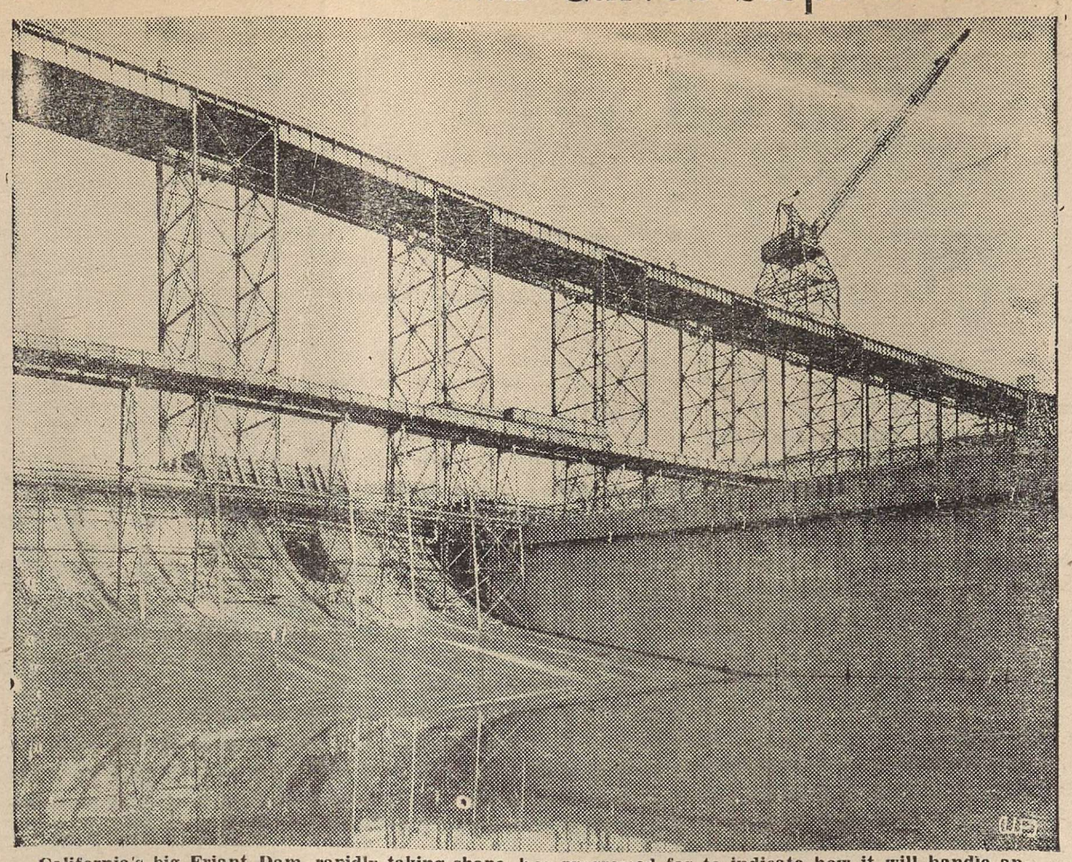

Director James M. Carter expects to issue an order some time this month invalidating a large portion of these good until revoked licenses as a safety move to elminate incompetent and unsafe drivers.

Applicants for renewal are required merely to undergo simple tests of vision, knowledge of the rules of the road and ability to operate their own vehicles safely.

Licenses may be obtained at any branch office of the department, at all offices of the highway patrol and at several points where special examiner service is provided.

Floods Will Roll Down Curved Slope of Dam

California's big Friant Dam, rapidly taking shape, has progressed far to indicate how it will handle annual flood waters. Flood flows will pass over spillway down the curved slope at left of picture which also shows part of a broad spillway apron now completed at dam's base. Note two trestles, with box cars on lower one.

"For ever, O Lord, thy word is settledin heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 16, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Substance".

Included among the other Scriptural selections will be: "Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting....The Lord on high is mighti-e rthan the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea. Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, for ever" (Psalms 93: 2, 4, 5).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key the Scriptures" by Mary Baked Eddy, will also be included: "It is a false supposition, the notion that there is real substance-matter, the opposite of God, is infinite, all. Spirit can have no opposite. That matter is substantial or has life and sensation is one of the false beliefs of mortals, and exists only in a supposititious mortal consciousness....Mattre, with its mortality, cannot be substantial if Spirit is substantial and eternal" (p. 278).

Soil Conservation and Wildlife

by DR. RICHARD M. BOND
Regional Biologist
Soil Conservation Service

Many people, when they think of conservation, have one particular resurce in mind that they wish to conserve. If they think of other natural resources at all, it is with the idea that someone else can look out for them. But actually, if we go about conserving one natural resource it is almost impossible not to help conserve others at the same time, whether or not we know or care about it. California Conservation Week, March 7-14, is a challenge to all of us to become acquainted with the interdependence of our natural resources.

Conservation of the redwoods also conserves many birds and mammals from kinglets to grouse and from tiny shrews to Roosevelt Elk, and hundreds of kinds of plants from mosses to flowering shrubs—all of which depend more or less for their existence on redwood forest conditions.

Of course, some of these mulitple conservation relations are much more effective than others. One that is especially outstanding is the relation between soil conservation and wildlife conservation. The greatest tool for erosion control is living vegetation. Where grass, trees, shrubs or other dense-growing vegetation covers the ground there can be little or no erosion. At the same time, since all birds and mammals are directly or indirectly dependent on vegetation for their food and shelter, erosion control measures almost always increase wildlife.

In a few cases in California, the Soil Conservation Service has actual figures to show how much wildlife has benefitted. For example, on a ranch in Santa Cruz County an eroded field, no longer suitable for crops, was planted with trees and shrubs, and grass and wild flowers were encouraged to grow. Not only was erosion stopped, but in four years the kinds of birds living on the area nearly doubled, numbers of song and insect-eating birds increased at least ten times, and quail and pheasants also increased several hundred per cent. At the same time hawks and owls, which were never molested, kept the rodents and rabbits down to reasonable numbers so that the trees and shrubs have suffered little injury and have made phenomenal growth.

On another farm the fields have been divided into narrow strips that run across the slopes instead of up and down them. Every other strip is always overed by a crop so that water running down the slope is slowed, much of it sinks into the ground, and erosion is greatly retarded. Because there is always vegetation to hide in, quail now feed in the fields most of the year instead of only for a few weeks, and the total number of quail on the farm has increased considerably. Moreover, it has been found that the quail are feeding almost entirely on weed seeds so that they are helping the farmer in their turn.

On a large ranch in Orange County, eroding areas were planted to shrubs, trees and grasses, and watering stations designed by the Soil Conservation Service biologist were also put out. As a result, quail have increased from a few tens to several hundred, and since the trees and shrubs are still too small to be of maximum use to quail, the increase should continue for several years to come.
